The Federal Buildings Fund finances the activities of the Public Buildings Service which provides space and services for Federal agencies in a relationship similar to that of landlord and tenant.

The Fund, established in 1975, replaces direct appropriations by using income derived from rent assessments which approximate commercial rates for comparable space and services. Rent and other income to the Fund is as follows:

The Federal Buildings Fund program consists of the following activities financed from rent charges:

Construction and acquisition of facilities.—Space is acquired through the construction or purchase of facilities and prospectus-level extensions to existing buildings. All costs directly attributable to site acquisition, construction, and the full range of design and construction services and management and inspection of construction projects are funded under this activity.

Repairs and alterations.—Repairs and alterations of public buildings as well as associated design and construction services are funded under this activity. Protection of the Government's investment, health and safety of building occupants, transfer of agencies from leased space, and cost effectiveness are the principal criteria used in establishing priorities. Primary consideration is given to repairs to prevent deterioration and damage to buildings, their support systems, and operating equipment. This activity also provides for conversion of existing facilities and non-prospectus extensions.

Installment acquisition payments.—Payments are made for liabilities incurred under purchase contract authority and lease purchase arrangements. The periodic payments cover principal, interest, and other requirements.

Rental of space.—Space is acquired through the leasing of buildings including space occupied by Federal agencies in U.S. Postal Service facilities, 159 million rentable square feet in 2003, and 162 million rentable square feet in 2004.

Building operations.—Services are provided for Government-owned and leased facilities, including cleaning, utilities and fuel, maintenance, miscellaneous services (such as moving, evaluation of new materials and equipment, and field supervision), and general management and administration of all real property related programs including salaries and benefits paid from the Federal Buildings Fund. The following list shows the 2003 and 2004 direct program (estimated square feet and expenses in millions):

Other programs.—When requested by Federal agencies, the Public Buildings Service provides building services such as tenant alterations, cleaning and other operations, and protection services which are in excess of those services provided under the commercial rental charge. For presentation purposes, the balances of the Unconditional Gifts of Real, Personal, or Other Property trust fund have been combined with the Federal Buildings Fund.

This appropriation covers relocation costs involved in moving agencies from valuable underutilized property, targeted for public sale, to facilities determined to be more economically suitable to their needs. Relocation and disposal is considered when the benefit/cost ratio is at least 2:1. The sale of these valuable underutilized properties would provide significant revenue to the Treasury and would far outweigh the relocation costs involved.

No appropriation is requested for this program in 2004. GSA will solicit relocation proposals from agencies.

As required by the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, this non-budgetary account records all cash flows to and from the Government resulting from the credit sale of Federal property to the Columbia Hospital for Women in the District of Columbia as directed by the Treasury and General Government Appropriations Act, 2000 (P.L. 106-58). The amounts in this account are a means of financing and are not included in the budget totals. Columbia Hospital for Women retired this loan in its entirety in 2002.

The expenses of Transportation Audit Contracts and Contract Administration activities are financed from overcharges collected from carriers on transportation bills paid by the Government as a result of post payment audits. In 1986, Public Law 99-627 granted GSA the authority to conduct prepayment audits and to delegate this authority to Federal agencies, upon their request; permanent authority to pay transportation audit contractors from carrier overcharges collected; and authority to transfer net overpayments collected to the Treasury. In 1998, with the passage of the Travel and Transportation Act, the prepayment audit of transportation bills became mandatory. The Act's changes were fully implemented in October 2000.

In 2002, $13 million of carrier overpayments were collected, and $5 million were returned to the U.S. Treasury, resulting in net receipts of $8 million.

The Federal Supply Service (FSS) General Supply Fund (GSF) finances activities which offer federal agencies an extensive range of commercial services and more than 4 million commercial products. To provide total solutions for customers, FSS acquisition and service delivery activities are organized around five business lines: Supply, Commercial Acquisition, Personal Property Management, Travel and Transportation, and Vehicle Acquisition and Leasing Services.

FSS employs world-class business practices to provide customers with economical, efficient, and effective service delivery with significant savings in time and administrative costs. Customers can make best-value choices with different levels of services, with almost all service and product delivery provided by commercial suppliers through more than 10,000 FSS contractors. In fiscal year 2002, FSS' business volume was $27.3 billion, and is projected to be $31.4 billion in fiscal year 2004. FSS operations are largely funded through the GSF with its operating expenses recovered in the prices paid by federal agencies.

FSS customers are able to choose the level of service and program support that is right for the acquisition of products and services at any given time. More importantly, the government benefits whenever federal agencies rely upon the procurement and logistics expertise of FSS to help fulfill their supply needs. Benefits accrue from volume purchasing, FSS contracting expertise, and programs that are compliant with federal procurement and socioeconomic policies. FSS promotes commercial buying practices, reduces acquisition time, and under non-mandatory programs, provides agencies opportunities to determine best value—helping them get what they need, when they need it, to do their jobs effectively and focus on core missions.

The Federal Supply Service also plays an important role in expanding electronic government (E-Gov), one of the five key elements of the President's Management Agenda. In supporting this goal the FSS will invest $44.7 million and $7 million in 2003 and 2004 respectively in information technology projects within the E-Gov initiative. GSA is the lead agency for three FSS mission-related projects; e-Acquisition, e-Property (Federal Asset Sales), and e-Travel.

Supply.—Quick fulfillment of recurring customer needs for basic business and mission supplies by leveraging best practices in supply chain management programs is the primary objective and focus of the Office of Supply. Fulfillment solutions for supplies include electronic and hard copy catalogs, multiple ordering channels, FSS management of billing and paying transactions, order administration, and customer service support. The Supply program is fully complementary to the services offered through the Commercial Acquisition Multiple Award Schedules program. More important than providing service solutions, is support of the Government's national defense and other strategic mission responsibilities, as well as its socioeconomic objectives. This business line is funded through prices paid by customer agencies.

To optimize operating costs, the Supply program completed consolidation of its distribution operations into two Distribution Centers at Stockton, California and Burlington, New Jersey, in January 2002. The consolidation decision was based on an independent analysis performed by the Logistics Management Institute showing FSS could save approximately $176 million over a ten-year period. These savings include all costs to close six distribution centers. FSS is also relocating operations from Stockton, California to Sharpe Army Depot, California. The relocation will be accomplished by March 2003, allowing operating, transportation and space costs to be reduced by over $9 million annually. Payback of an approximate $20 million relocation investment will be within 3 years.

Commercial Acquisition.—Commercial Acquisition offers federal agencies millions of commercial products and an extensive range of technology, financial, environmental, management, and administrative services through the Multiple Award Schedules program. Agencies can make best-value choices and purchase directly from commercial suppliers through over 10,000 FSS schedule contracts. In 2004, GSA will receive revenue for Schedules program contract administration in the amount of 0.75 percent of the Schedules business volume. This reduction from the one percent fee that was recovered in 2003 and prior fiscal years will save customer agencies over $50 million in 2004. Customer agencies are able to purchase over 2.4 million items from the Schedules program through GSA Advantage, an on-line electronic catalog system. In fiscal year 2002, the business volume under the Schedules program was $21.6 billion.

Personal Property Management.—FSS' personal property program specializes in government cost avoidance and property sales through comprehensive electronic solutions. Property no longer needed by one federal agency is entered into an electronic system for screening and use by other federal agencies, thereby avoiding new procurements. Property with no further federal use can be screened electronically by eligible recipients and is offered at no cost to state and local governments and eligible nonprofit groups. Property whose value cannot be extended by reuse or donation is sold to the public, primarily through on-line auctions.

Travel and Transportation.—The FSS Travel and Transportation business line helps control the government's direct and administrative costs for travel and transportation services. Travel services include negotiated airline contracts, travel agency, and travel charge card services. Airline City-Pairs contracts will continue to save Federal agencies about 70 percent off the commercial value of each fare, or $3.0 billion. A change to capacity-based fares during fiscal year 2002 will be continued to allow the airline industry to better manage its seat inventory. This change provides Federal agencies the incentive to book airline travel early for the best fares. Transportation services include the shipment of parcels, freight and household goods. The business line also oversees the use of audit contractors to examine the government's air passenger, freight and household goods transportation billings to identify and seek recovery of incorrect billings and overpayments for the federal government. In recent years, federal travel and transportation budgets have totaled approximately $24 billion each year. This business line is funded through prices and fees paid by Federal agencies.

Vehicle Acquisition and Leasing Services.—The Vehicle Acquisition and Leasing Services business line provides two distinct services. One service, GSA Automotive, manages the acquisition of vehicles for all federal agencies through consolidated acquisitions and the Multiple Award Schedules program. By consolidating all their customer requirements, they are able to leverage their buying power to achieve significant discounts. In fiscal year 2002, GSA Automotive contracted for over 60,000 sedans, trucks and other non-tactical vehicles worth more than $1.2 billion. FSS continues to save customers about 20 percent off the invoice prices listed in the Black Book Lease Guide. This service is funded through prices and fees paid by Federal agencies.

The other service, GSA Fleet, manages a fleet of more than 188,000 vehicles. GSA Fleet provides non-tactical vehicles needed by civilian and military customer agencies with a comprehensive "cradle to grave" leasing program. GSA Fleet handles all aspects of the management of these assets, including vehicle acquisition, maintenance and repairs, accident management, fuel expenses, and resale of the used vehicles.

Revenue is generated through monthly and mileage charges. GSA Fleet continues to grow. From 1998 through 2002, 28,963 vehicles were added by consolidating other Federal fleets.

The Fund finances the operations of the Federal Technology Service (FTS) in providing telecommunications and information technology solutions to Federal agencies on a reimbursable basis (fee for service) through four business units:

Long Distance.—FTS provides long-distance telecommunications service that offers the Federal Government low-cost, state-of-the-art, integrated voice, data, and video telecommunications. Services are provided through an eight-year multibillion dollar long-distance contract with business partners Sprint and MCI Worldcom. Complementing this business unit are specialized services which offer customers the benefits of satellite, wireless, paging, Internet and other services. FTS switched voice rates have decreased from a national average of 27 cents per minute in FY 1988 to 5.8 cents per minute under the predecessor contracts. Under the existing contracts prices began at about 4.5 cents per minute and will decrease to less than 1 cent per minute by the end of the contracts' period.

Regional Telecommunications Services.—FTS provides local voice and data telecommunications to Federal agencies nationwide. In the wake of reforms initiated by the Telecommunications Act of 1996, FTS is pursuing lower prices for local service in major markets through its Metropolitan Area Acquisitions (MAA) program, as well as continuing to provide local telecommunications service to areas not served by the MAA providers. The MAA program takes advantage of competition to achieve substantial price reductions for local telecommunication services in metropolitan areas. After a forbearance period of at least one year from the date of award of an MAA contract, the Government may execute an option to allow the FTS2001 long-distance vendors to offer optional local services and an option to allow winning MAA vendors in one city to offer local services in another city. To date, a total of 43 MAA contracts have been awarded to six industry partners in 26 cities nationwide, including the WITS2001 contract, that services the Washington, DC metropolitan area.

Regional IT Solutions.—Through its regional sales centers, FTS provides Federal agencies with systems definition and design, business and scientific software services, computer security studies and risk analyses, and access to all of FTS' products and services. A large part of the business unit is designed to enable Federal agencies to purchase commercial off-the-shelf information technology software, equipment and non-complex services. It offers Federal agencies products and services, plus the "value-added" contracting services support that focuses on shortest time, lowest cost, and highest quality as a composite procurement approach. The business unit relies on various contracting solutions: GSA's multiple-award schedules (MAS), government-wide acquisition contracts (GWACS) for specialized buys, and multiple award 8(a) contracts with small businesses.

National IT Solutions.—FTS assists Federal agencies on large, complex systems integration efforts, including hardware, software, maintenance, training and analyst support; delivers full service management of information technology acquisitions worth more than $100 million; enables agencies to purchase information systems security services from various industry sources; and develops and deploys innovative new service areas that incorporate the most current technologies and approaches to solving Federal IT problems such as implementing financial and administrative systems, and providing a full range of smart card services, and outsourcing solutions for the IT needs of Federal agencies.

The Federal Citizen Information Center (FCIC) Fund provides for the efficient operation of the FCIC's activities. Under the revolving fund, the FCIC's activities are financed from moneys deposited to the fund, consisting of annual appropriations from the general funds of the Treasury, reimbursements from agencies, fees collected from the public, gifts for undertaking consumer information activities, and other income incident to FCIC activities.

Administrative expenses.—The Federal Citizen Information Center (FCIC) maintains close working relationships with more than 40 Federal departments and agencies to identify, develop, promote, and make accessible to the public Federal consumer information. The FCIC helps these departments and agencies release consumer information collected as a by-product of their program activities. The FCIC promotes public awareness of this information through publication of the quarterly Consumer Information Catalog, through marketing and media promotions, and through Internet websites located at www.pueblo.gsa.gov, www.info.gov, and www.kids.gov. The FCIC also produces and distributes the Consumer Action Handbook, which provides information to citizens in resolving consumer problems, and it operates a toll-free National Contact Center for responding to citizen inquiries about the Federal Government. FCIC's websites and National Contact Center are part of GSA's evolution into the premier electronic portal through which citizens may access a wide variety of Federal Government information and services. This is a key element of the Administration's initiative to expand Electronic Government (E-Gov). During FY 2002, GSA created a new Office of Citizen Services and Communications of which FCIC is an important part. As part of this reorganization, FCIC acquired operational responsibility for the FirstGov.gov website. Administrative expenses are funded by the direct appropriation, by fees collected from the public when ordering publications listed in the Catalog, and by revenue received through FCIC's gift authority.

Publications distribution.—The FCIC bills agencies and in turn reimburses the Government Printing Office for the costs of distributing free publications to the public.

This fund provides for management and administration, and centralized internal and external reimbursable administrative support functions.

Centralized administration.—Centralized administrative support services are funded through reimbursable funding from GSA's benefiting accounts and from external sources including small agencies and commissions for services provided. Reimbursable services include administrative, information resources management, financial and management support, legal advice and services, and equal employment opportunity; budgetary policy and liaison activities with Congress and OMB; and management review and oversight of financial management systems. This funding provides liaison with the Small Business Administration on national minority business proposals and contracts to ensure that minority and small businesses receive a fair share of the agency's business. This activity is also responsible for implementation and execution of the functions and duties under sections 8 and 15 of the Small Business Act (P.L. 95-507).
